

SEEN FOR SALE
Alastair Walter

The November Embassy Auction retail list included this 1d red imperforate tied to a piece with a black wafer and used in Nottingham. These wafers were normally used for sealing the letter sheet but in this case the sender has used it as an additional safeguard to prevent their servant from removing the stamp. A nice early security device but is it worth £95?

